Mr. Roosevelt and the Trusts.

When John Moody, editor of Moody's Manual of Corporation Securities, compiled a list of trusts in 1904 he recited the names of 258 lesser industrial trusts, of 7 greater industrial trusts, besides 13 trusts in process of reorganization, 8 telephone and telegraph trusts and 103 gas, electric light and street railway consolidations. Besides there were 790 railroads controlled in six groups and 250 roads in nine or ten minor consolidations.

From the time of this startistical consumption in 1904 to the present day Mr. Roosevelt has been President of the United States, with full power to enforce the Sherman Anti-Trust law, with ample appropriations at his disposal and with the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to back him up.

What has he done? [What monopoly has he crushed out? What necessary of life has he cheapened to the consumer?

For instance, take the Beef Trust, which affects the mass of the consuming public as vitally and closely as any of the great trusts. This trust was formed in Mr. Roosevelt's first Administration. It has thrived from its birth. In one of his periods of attacking some things or somebody Mr. Roosevelt had the Department of Commerce and the Department of Justice proceed against the Beef Trust. That was when he was running for re-election in 1904.

These proceedings were so conducted as to secure to Armour, Swift, Morris and the others the benefit of an immunity bath for past offenses. Instead of convicting anybody the secret was the opposite.

Since then the Beef Trust's business capitalization and profits have continued to increase. Prices of meat have been raised three times during Mr. Roosevelt's Administration. The Beef Trust has extended its activities to include chickens, eggs and butter. It is driving more small dealers out of business. It has made the cost of food higher and higher, with no diminution to the 2,000,000 men out of employment who were helpless victims of the Roosevelt panic.

This is merely one out of hundreds of illustrations that can be given of the failure of President Roosevelt to execute the anti-trust law and to avail himself of the language of Justice Holmes of the United States Supreme Court, who said before Mr. Roosevelt's election, in his opinion on the Northern Securities case:

"The statute of which we have to find the meaning is a criminal statute."

Watterson.

[Editorial from Collier.]

Elasticity of mind and temperament has been the master-trait of Henry Watterson. Often we have jested about this veteran, because the high spirits in which he abounds are contagious; but now that the hand of fate is on him, humor is farthest from the mood into which his myriad friends are plunged. Death last autumn seized his much-loved son; his daughter had gone before; and now the warrior gives notice to the country that his own days for general gatherings are at an end. He describes himself as "stranded and helpless and wholly unequal to any kind of publicity." As he sits and watches the changing colors of the Gulf, Mr. Watterson must find in the measureless waters and their refrains, ever returning and returning, the summaries of destiny.

"Does the sun shine on me today that I may reflect on yesterday?"

It is Goethe's question, propounded many a time by every man who thinks at all. May Henry Watterson rebound from the blows with which fate has stricken him. May he be able from very misery itself to draw something of courage and of new determination. Personal desire must weaken with each succeeding lesson which time and chance visit upon the sojourner in this vale; but there remains the thing in itself, the value of choice, the way that is best; and in sending friendly greetings to Henry Watterson we would fain slip in a little ray of hope—a wish that for some years yet the ever gallant writer should hold his active post. Generations of men follow, even as billows in the sea, yet we would finish our own moment as completely as we may; and, therefore, would hold soldiers like Watterson in line of battle to the end.

An Exception.

Governor Willson gave it out some time back that he would listen to no more personal appeals for pardons. Of course though the case of Caleb Powers, the Republican hero, pleading for Taylor and Finley will be an exception and was never for a minute intended to be included in the statement of the Governor—oh, no.

It seems that poor Youtsey, among the whole bunch of conspirators, according to the way the Republican's now look at it, is the only guilty party and that he should atone for the sins of all.

Of course Willson will comply with the request in the petition and issue pardons to both Taylor and Finley, but he should go the whole hog and include Youtsey, and thus end the whole business of what Commonwealth's Attorney Bob Franklin aptly terms a "miserable farce."

Go ahead Governor and issue pardons for the whole bunch of them and stop your four-flushing, for everybody knows it is only a matter of time before you turn your pals out.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought can be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Pure, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 603 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

COMPARING CANDLE WITH ELECTRIC light is like comparing a very small boy with a full grown man. In fact is absurd to compare the electric with any other light. It is in a class by itself. You know how bright it makes other people's places. Well, let us show you how easily and reasonably you can have yours lighted equally as well.
